

"The Ottawa Spotlight"

A Weekly Review of National Affairs
(By Spectator)

Ottawa, April 28.—After a fortnight's Easter recess, the parliament of Canada is again back in harness. Before it is the final stages of legislation already initiated, a large part of the estimates, the budget, whatever new bills the government intends to introduce this session, and in all probability the new trade pact with the United States, which is now in process of negotiation at Washington. There will also be the customary mass of measures to be adopted by the government in the campaign against unemployment.

Transportation questions will fill a good deal of the time of the parliament. Not only will these important and baffling problems be discussed in a special committee of the senate, and the Canadian National deficit is the subject of debate in the commons, but Mr. Howe's transport bill will have still to run the gauntlet of investigation and criticism before it becomes law. Hitherto the railways only have been under a board of regulation, the Board of Transport Commissioners. Under the new bill this board, to be called the Board of Transport Commissioners, will control rates on inland shipping (except bulk commodities such as grain and coal) and air traffic, as well as coastal shipping via the Panama Canal. The bill has an attack on the railway problem along the whole line. It is a prepared advance in certain segments of the line. Highway traffic, being under the control of the provinces, except for the small interprovincial traffic, is not included. The grim and forbidding towers of the railway problem itself still remain in the path. The bill, however, represents a real advance and the general opinion appears to be that the transportation situation will be considerably improved if threatened opposition is overcome and it passes to law.

The Veil of the British Air Mission
Interest has been aroused by the visit of a British air mission to Canada. It is hoped and believed that after making the rounds of aircraft manufacturing plants in the United States and carrying out negotiations for the delivery of aircraft to Canada, relatively more immune from aerial attack on account of distance than plants in the United Kingdom, would not only stimulate our aircraft manufacturing industry but would be a genuine contribution to defence.

National Defence Estimates
There is likely to be a lively discussion over the balance of the defence estimates when they are brought up in parliament, but to view the latter truths in regard to the world situation which have been driven home to peace loving and peace supporting Canadians during the past few months, there will in all probability be little serious obstruction to the appropriations. As Mr. Mackenzie, the Minister of National Defence, said in an explanatory speech at Vancouver last Wednesday, the bulk of the criticism now being directed against the estimates is that they are too small.

As he pointed out the defence programme is directed to the defence of our trade routes, along which are our wheat, timber, minerals and other commodities which are part of the lifeblood of our industries; defence of our ports and of our neutrality in case some nation on the Pacific sought to use territory as an advance post for attacking another nation. "If we do not drive off these who seek to use our bays and inlets for un-aerial purposes, as bases for attack on another friendly power, somebody else will do it for us, and we shall lose the sovereignty of our territory." For all their diplomatic reticence, these estimates of defence will seem to many Canadians as un-audacious. The onus on the defence ministry seems gradually to be swinging from proving defence is needed to proving that the measures being adopted are adequate for their objectives.

A New Province
Interest is aroused by the suggestion from the Peace River that that area joined with the Yukon and parts of the Northwest Territories should be formed into a new province. It brings up the question of the future of the whole vast territory that lies North of the Western provinces and west of Hudson Bay. It is fair to assume that none of the western provinces will give up any of the territory they now possess. Last autumn the premier of British Columbia suggested that the Eastern boundary of the province should be prolonged to the Arctic sea. In time possibly the other western provinces will seek the extension of their boundaries to take in the part of the territory now lying to the north of 60° parallel. The growth of mining in this northern land has given added interest to the question, but the population is still so small that it seems a little early to decide whether a new province will be formed or whether the land will be divided between the present provinces.

GREYHOUND BUS COMPANY
EXTENSIVE BUSINESS
The Greyhound Bus Co. has purchased the Transcontinental Coach Lines Ltd. of Manitoba and the Prairie Coach Lines of Saskatchewan and will operate under the name of the Central Canadian Bus Lines Ltd. with head office in Calgary. Mr. C. D. Pay is President of the newly enlarged company. A continuous service will operate between Trail and Winnipeg. Connection for the West will be made at East Port and at Winnipeg for Eastern United States. New super-coach equipment will provide the last word in comfort for passengers.

UNUSUAL ACTIVITY IN FARM IMPLEMENTS
That there is an unusual and general spirit of optimism regarding better crop conditions for 1938, there is no doubt. This is shown by the increased number of tractors, tillage implements, etc. being sold by Strathmore dealers. One reason for this may be the shortage of high price of feed for horses hence the comparatively cheap operation of the tractor, but over and above this, the outlook is good and machinery is being freely purchased.

"HERE COMES CHARLIE"

We congratulate Mrs. White, director and her committee Mrs. Nichol and Mrs. Campbell and the cause who so successfully put on the Play "Here Comes Charlie," in the Memorial Hall Monday evening. A large audience was present which was kept in constant good humor by the rollicking farces, which contained nothing less several bits of good philosophy. Lots of laughter were frequently heard testifying to the abandoned enjoyment of the audience.

We also congratulate the committee on the appointment of the casts to their various characterizations.

Finnan huddle, one of Canada's important smoked fish products, contains about 25 per cent of protein. Other fish foods also have high protein content, higher content, indeed, than many other foods.

Growing children need plenty of Vitamin L. There's no better way to give it to them than in Canadian fish foods.

COMING EVENTS

School Fair Dance Friday, April 29, Len Davis' Orchestra. The best of the season.

Inter-School Sports Day in Strathmore Saturday, April 30th.

The Inter-School Sports have been postponed until Saturday, May 7th on account of weather conditions.

Saturday, April 30th the A. Y. P. are holding a Tea and Sale of House Goods in the Sample Room of the King Edward. Meet your friends and enjoy a social hour Saturday night.

The Ladies Golf Club will hold their annual meeting and election of officers Monday, May 2nd at 8 p.m. in the Town Hall. All members requested to attend and any one interested wishing to play.

Our opinion each performer was given the role to which he or she was best fitted, a feature that helps greatly and in amateur productions is frequently overlooked.

The casts and their character representations were—Nora Malone, a cook at the Elliott home, Mrs. Nora White; Office "Tim Magillie, Nora's Sweetheart; Ed. Shrimpton; Mrs. Fanny Farham, Larry's Aunt by marriage; Larry's fiancée, Gladys Fossenden; Uncle Alex. Trelage, in charge of Charlie, Dr. Gilman; Charlie Hopps, Larry's Ward, Edith Hirtle; Mrs. Caroline Blythe-Kersey, Vivian's mother; Miss Graham; Mortimer, Vivian's brother, Carl Sorenson.

There was a great variety of personality and the farces line was well maintained, the over-the-top Aunt Fanny to the over sleepy and bored brother of Vivian, Carl Sorenson.

There were two or three surprises, not the least being the clever portrayal by Tommy Oldham. There were some heavy tasks in memorization and these had been well mastered.

Aunt Fanny with her over-tasty, haughty portrayal who was constantly getting her quotations mixed as for instance, "United we stand—divided we fall"—what over the old adage says gave a clever portrayal of her part. We understand this is her first appearance in the dramatic life.

Uncle Alex. Trelage was the genuine unsophisticated friend of "Charlie" throughout. His role as butler was very funny. He lived his part most naturally, so also did Charlie, the frank unafraid ward of Papa Larry.

Larry Elliott's role called for more variety of mood, and in each he appeared perfectly natural and at home.

Mrs. Caroline Blythe-Kersey and her daughter Vivian, with their assumed dignity and supercilious manner, looked and acted their parts very truly.

Office "Tim Magillie" carried through his role with a precision typical of the trained official. Nora the cook, the timid subservient maid, fearful of her mistress, was true to her role in voice and action.

The gown worn by the ladies and so frequently changed were the subject of admiring comment on the part of the fair sex of the audience.

The make-up was quite the best that has been demonstrated locally.

The stage was directly of arrangement for so large a cast.

The committee wishes to express appreciation to Dr. Gilman and Norman Ellis for assisting with various privileges and general help to Mr. McCracken for loaning various fittings, and to Miss Gordon and Jean McGregor for assisting in make up.

Mrs. Campbell, President of the Ladies Aid under whose auspices the play was given announced the period and time elapsed and the net.

Something over $70 was taken in and over $50 net, added to the Treasury.

The casts have spent many hours rehearsing and their interest is appreciated by the Church.

The casts were the guests of the Ladies Aid at the close of the entertainment.

Honor Dan McCowan

Dan McCowan, author and naturalist who delights visitors to Banff looking in the Banff National Park, has been made a Fellow of the Zoological Society. The honor was conferred on him after he delivered an illustrated lecture before the society at Regent Park on his last visit to England. "My job is a perfect one and a happy one," he often says. "I can tell money to visitors and keep it too."

Trail Riders Plan Perfect Mountain Holiday

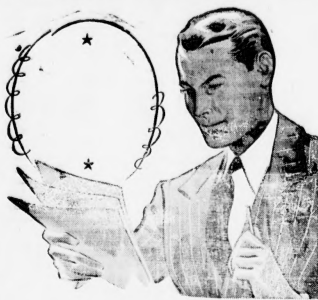

THE Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies have an unusual holiday that sets for the end of July when they will make a five-day exploratory trip through the picturesque section of the Rocky Mountains southeast of Banff.

The society, which was organized to open new trails through the mountains and give members an unrivalled mountain holiday at the lowest possible cost, has made many interesting trips in the past. But few with unusual promise that this year's from July 28 to August 2. They will ride over high passes and down into deep valleys in the shadow of 10,000-foot peaks; they will find time for fishing, or onmers studies of the beautiful scenery or the big game which is found in such large numbers; they will enjoy campfire stargazing and a hang-out fire at the end of the trip. These outings have become so popular that many Americans plan their holidays at Banff Springs Hotel, Chalet Lake Louise, or any of the several attractive bungalow camps every year to coincide with the official Trail Hike or Trail Ride.

It is a trip which will attract the service rider as well as the experienced horseman, for the horses used are mild, sure of foot, and easy to handle. Experienced guides, cowboys, and stock will be along to smooth the trip, while arrangements are well under way even now for the Trail Riders to find new trails and to enjoy a warm meal waiting at the end of each day's ride. Two nights will be spent at one of the camps—the one nearest to the best fishing and most spectacular scenery. Interest in this year's outing is keen, according to J. Murray Gibbon, Windsor Station, Montreal, the secretary-treasurer, who said that he expects there will be many new members in the party this year. The trip will start on the morning of the start of the ride on July 29. Photographs show scenes from the rides of former years, and clearly indicate the joys of the mountain trails.

But a man of real finesse in any administrative capacity must have stomach for open and face-to-face dealing with men. And a democratic system sooner or later brings to men face-to-face discussion of all vital questions because the people will be satisfied with no other.

There is today a certain breathlessness and lack of assured and quiet power.

No doubt it is better to go ahead even blindly than to stand still, and remarkable things have been achieved in this way, but they are little to what might be done if we could work out our highest human nature intelligence, with assurance and provision. And on a large scale, a society which did this would have the same sort of superiority to present society as man to his sub-human progenitors. (Cavley Social Organization)

He came today, our whilom foe—
An enemy ten years ago.
At least our country's enemy,
Even as I was forced to be
An enemy of his, he came;
And by the fourth we watched the flame
Flourish the logs with gold, as we
Together talked of poetry,
Or sat, each silent in his seat,
Kiss in the healing, quiet sweet
Companionship of kindred minds
And human fellowship that binds
The broken spirit and makes whole
The horror-incarcerated Soul
We, who'd been forced by fate to dwell
Four years in opposite camps of hell.
We're liberated now, and free
Of the sweet heaven of poetry.
After long years of exile come
To our true native country, home.

DEPENDENT ON WHEAT

A good western wheat crop this year will make a tremendous change in Canada's financial picture, says the Financial Post. A great area will be turned almost overnight from abject poverty and government relief to one of vigorous purchasing power. The effect on directly interested industries, farm implements, home equipment, and transportation will be enormous. The railway companies in particular are looking forward to a big crop in order to restore their earning power. In the annual report recently issued by the Canadian Pacific Railway, mention is made of the fact that earnings were reduced substantially by the small grain production of Western Canada.

Italy is expected to buy a substantial volume of Canadian grown wheat, according to Broomhall. There is a fairly large supply of durum wheat in Canada and getting rid of it at a fair price has been somewhat of a problem.

Experts say that the most common mistake made in fish cooking is overcooking. A slice of fish as thick or less in thickness needs only ten minutes' cooking in a hot oven.

Special Tuna Casserole
Baked Rice Spanish Style
Surprise Salad
Home-made Relishes
Orange Shortcake with
Orange Sauce
Beverage

The menu featured above presents something old, something new, something borrowed, nothing blue! Let's take the new first. This Tuna Casserole can be made from the emergency shelf kept adequately stocked in every well-ordered home. The almonds add novelty and nutritive value but they may be omitted.

The Surprise Salad glorifies the parsnip. It is often called Mock Crab Salad. Try it to see why. A cabbage salad would be an equally good balance in this meal.

Although shortcake is old it is a favorite dessert for all ages. This Orange Shortcake is especially luscious. The oranges provide the vitamins and minerals so frequent ly lacking in winter diets.

Special Tuna Casserole
(Serves 6)
1 1/2 teaspoons grated onion
1 1/2 cups tuna, with oil from can
1 pound can of ready-to-serve cream of mushroom soup
2 tablespoons flour
1 1/2 teaspoons Worcestershire or any favorite condiment sauce
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Salt to taste
1 1/2 teaspoon white pepper
1 1/2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1/2 cup sliced almonds
1 lemon quarters

In a saucepan, gently saute onion in oil drained from the can of tuna, until soft, but not brown. Blend in the flour. Add cream of mushroom soup and seasonings. When it reaches the boiling point add the chopped pimiento and tuna prepared in large flakes, and sliced almonds. Heat, stirring carefully and as little as possible.

Put in a casserole set on a serving plate, garnish with bits of pimiento, and arrange lemon quarters on the plate. A squeeze of lemon on the individual servings adds the final fling of flavor to a lusciously delicious party supper or dinner dish that can be made in a few minutes.

NOTE: May be served on toast or in crostini; or for a complete dinner or luncheon main course, serve Special Tuna Casserole with noodles, green peas and baby carrots.

Surprise Salad
(Serves 6)
2 cups shredded raw parsnips
1 cup cut celery
2 tablespoons minced pimiento
1 1/2 tablespoons horseradish
1/2 cup mayonnaise

Use a shredder not a grater on the shredded parsnips. This produces long flakes resembling crab meat. Combine all ingredients and serve plain or on any available salad greens. Surprisingly delicious.

Orange Shortcake
(Serves 6)
For the filling, use:
6 Sunkist oranges, segmented to 1/2 cup sugar
For the shortcake, mix together:
1 1/2 cups general purpose flour
1/4 cup sugar
2 1/2 teaspoons salt
2 1/2 tablespoons sugar
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder

Work into the dry ingredients:
1 1/2 tablespoons shortening

Add:
1/2 cup milk
Stir to a soft dough. Divide into two portions. Pat into two ungreased baking pans. Bake in a hot oven (425° F.) for 15 minutes. Remove to serving dish. Cover bottom layer with orange segments. Top with second shortcake layer. Cover with the remaining segments. Serve with Orange Sauce prepared while shortcake is baking.

Orange Sauce
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup Sunkist orange juice
Mix. Bring to a boil. Boil until clear (3 to 5 minutes). Remove from heat.
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup milk
Put in a casserole set on a serving plate, garnish with bits of pimiento, and arrange lemon quarters on the plate. A squeeze of

QUOTATION FOR TODAY

WHAT we think, or what we know, or what we believe, is, in the end, of little consequence—the only thing of consequence is what we do.—Ruskin.

THE HORIZON BRIGHTENS

The conciliatory pact recently signed between Britain and Italy is on the surface encouraging. Whether this combination will have any deterrent effect on Herr Hitler's plan of acquiring more power through more territory it is at the moment impossible to know. However the fact that the strained relations which existed between Italy and Britain have reached a more conciliatory attitude is all to the good. Despite all the huge armaments, increase of so many armaments, we see in the above a hopeful augury for further negotiations. Peoples in general are convinced of the futility of war. Arbitration with a sane measure of "give and take" can bring about more equitable results than are ever achieved by war.

The two big men in the above council of negotiations were Count Ciano III Duce's son-in-law and the Earl of Perth whose family motto is "peace warily". It is a curious coincidence that the Earl of Perth was the first secretary general of the League.

In negotiating with the Pacific Coast, Canada, Lord Perth showed all the tact and skill of nearly 40 years of diplomatic training. It is said Italy views with deep satisfaction the agreement made.

IRELAND AND UNITED KINGDOM MAKE FRIENDLY PACT

Ten years of both countries' hails the Anglo-Irish agreement. This is a matter for general satisfaction, and it is felt will lead to warmer relations between Dublin and Belfast.

CROP CONDITIONS BRIGHT

Western farmers are not worried by the late Spring, on the contrary there are several who state that a bumper crop has followed when their seedling has been delayed on account of weather conditions and much moisture. Farmers are everywhere pleased by the abundance of moisture that has fallen lately and feel the land is in better shape than it has been for several years.

RED CROSS MAKES APPEAL

The splendid work carried on by the Red Cross Society is known in a general way to many, but perhaps few are acquainted with the many sided assistance given by this worthy organization. Crippled children help, appeals from ex-soldiers and their families, help given to drought area persons and victims of fire in Czechoslovakia, clothing for children and layettes sent to expectant mothers. This is only a brief summary. It takes money to carry on, and the society is making an appeal for help. $20,000 is their objective.

The campaign for subscriptions, extends from May 1st to 14th. All donations will be gratefully acknowledged. Mail your subscription now to: Lt. Col. Tomlinson, 17 Customs Building, Calgary.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

At all Christian Science Churches next Sunday, the subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Everlasting Punishment." One of the Scriptural quotations in the Lesson-Sermon is Proverbs 15:31. "The ear that heareth the reproof of life abideth among the wise." One of the correlative passages from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, is "Do you ask wisdom to be merciful and not to punish sin? Then ye ask unites. Without punishment, sin would multiply."

Emotion is the spark plug that gets action.—Roger W. Babson.
A man without prejudice is no color-bonded to be likeable or even truly intelligent; a woman without prejudice is insufferable.—Emil Ludwig.

WEDDINGS

DOBSON — PHILPOTT

A quiet but pretty wedding took place on April 18th at Vancouver, B. C., at 8 o'clock in St. Giles Church, when Sylvia Mary Philpott, daughter of the C. Philpott of Monmouth, Eng. and of the late Mrs. Gordon Alayne of Strathmore, Alberta, became the bride of Mr. Philip Dobson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Dobson of Vancouver.

The bride wore a trimly fashioned suit of white with blouse of the pink. Her accessories were white, a hat styled in the popular Gown with the Wind mode with halo brim and open lace back, slender kidskin sandals with perforated openwork, and doekin gloves. She carried a bouquet of Rhodie De Holland roses. Miss Marge Kyriev was bridesmaid. She was attired in a tailored costume of Aslan pink with which she wore contrasting accessories, carrying a bouquet of pink and white carnations and coral sweet peas. Mr. Don Rossi supported the groom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride where Miss Winnifred Kyriev and Mrs. Dobson received the guests. Miss Kyriev was wearing a gown of floral chiffon with wide loose coat of black and black picture hat. Her corsage was of pink roses. The groom's mother had chosen brown with brown mohair trimmed hat and corsage of yellow roses. Masses of spring blossoms beauteous streamers of white and white transformed the rooms into flower garden bowers. A three tier wedding cake centred the pretty appointed tea table that was
